MORE INFORMATION

This rosé is from the sunny Mediterranean coastline in southern France, Hérault department, Occitania region. The vineyards are located at the very edge of the Massif de la Seranne, a limestone massif with remarkable view that stretches across the entire wine growing plain of the Hérault region, to the Mediterranean sea. At the foot of this mountain at 400-840 meters, are perfect climatic conditions. Mild, wet winters and hot, dry summers lead to ideal ripening for the classic red grape varieties used to craft this rosé.

This refreshingly dry rosé is made using temperature controlled stainless steel tanks to preserve its freshness.

TASTING NOTES

Nose of citrus and red fruits. Mineral and floral notes. Lively palate with a nice sweetness and aromas of grapefruit, mandarin oranges, and a hint of spice.
